FOREWORD

In perpetuating the revival of "The Mirror" our school annual, it is the endeavor of the editor to present true reflections of our days as students, ever with the thought in mind, to maintain and cherish those sacred and everlasting friendships which have been so firmly cemented during our stay here.

If, in the days that are to come, the perusal of these pages will recall the happy and profitable hours spent at Lombard and Greene and will cause us to turn in gratitude to that Alma Mater which fostered us, then this work shall not have been in vain.

History of The "Mirror"

Our School Annual The Mirror, had its inception at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in the year 1901—under the capable editorship of Thomas J. Corbett and his staff. From then on each year has seen a new edition break forth into print with increasing degrees of success, only to terminate in 1922, when its Alma Mater, the Baltimore College Dental School amalgamated with the School of Dentistry of the University of Maryland. Since 1922 this Annual has been replaced by the year book of the University, The Terra Mariae. However, last year by vote of the Board of Editors and with approval of the staff adviser, Dr. Harry B. McCarthy, The Mirror was revived. It is the fond hope of the present editor and his staff that the future will produce successive editions, that will well rival such a worthy progenitor.

Do Your Duty

You of the 1933 Class have chosen deliberately a profession and have completed satisfactorily the preparation which equips you to minister to the health needs of society. This election carries with it duties which you should recognize and which it is your responsibility to discharge acceptably to those whom you will serve. Those among you, if there be such, who lack this vision of professional and social responsibility will find yourselves out of harmony with ideals consonant with professional station and attainment. Under these circumstances you will, no doubt, regard the time spent in preparation as a terminable episode of interest only as a hurdle that, when successfully cleared, guarantees a favorable opportunity for money getting. You will find that the incentive for mental training ends, desire for scientific improvement ceases, while the services you will render will be vitiated by empirical tendencies. In view of past experience we conclude this picture is not of you. We believe you will realize that your "commencement" is the rededication of yourselves to laudable endeavor, a matriculation in the school of experience which is more exacting, more important and more vital than what you have known. Most failures in dental practice can set the date of beginning decline at the time of beginning practice. Because one does not exercise the powers essential to intellectual, professional, and social progress there is atrophy, shrinkage, deterioration rather than development, expansion and improvement. It is a pity for one to dwindle down into nothing but crude material with which to fill some vocation. "Born a man, died a grocer," was the epitaph which a certain Frenchman left as the mournful lament of a life that had failed. One must search out his duty, must plan intelligently to meet it in the most efficient manner, and then devote every ounce of effort and determination to its attainment. "Intention is what one proposes to do, ambition is what one covets to do, sentiment is what one is pleased to do, but duty is what one must do." Your future success and happiness depend on honesty of purpose, loyalty to a cause and to society, systematic effort to develop skill in service, intelligent application of the powers of the mind to the problems which daily present themselves, and diligence in the performance of the task in hand—all under the stimulating drive of action motivated by a worthy idealism. It is our belief and fond hope that none of the 1933 Class will waver in purpose or permit himself, either through desire for unworthy gain or by surrender to unfavorable circumstances, to be thrown into the category of ignoble failure. Your achievement will be in proportion to the ideals which dominate you, the purpose which directs you and the zeal which actuates you.

School History

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland as it stands today is the outcome of continued efforts of those individuals whose sole purpose was the promotion of dentistry as a specialty in the healing arts.

The first epic of beginning development was the acceptance of dentistry as a special branch in medicine by the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, and required a license for its practice. This was made possible by the unceasing efforts of Dr. Horace H. Hayden and through whose lectures in the University of Maryland Medical School, during the years 1821 to 1825, led to the founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, chartered in 1840, with Horace H. Hayden, President, and Chapin A. Harris, Dean.

It was some years later that the University of Maryland saw fit to institute a dental department of its own, with Dr. Ferdinand J. Gorgas, Dean, in 1882. This institution enjoyed a reign independent of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery until 1923, at which time, for the best interest of the profession, the two schools amalgamated, carrying the name of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, with Dr. T. O. Heatwole as Dean. Soon after, Dr. Heatwole relinquished the Deanship to fulfill his duties as Secretary of the Professional Schools of the University of Maryland, at which time Dr. J. Ben Robinson was appointed Dean of this institution.

It was through the untiring efforts of Dr. Robinson that we are able to look on with pride at our present school and to enjoy a rating classed with the highest in dentistry today, for previous to Dr. Robinson's invocation, the school possessed a "B" classification. However, it was only a short time later that a five year term was adopted, a new building erected and the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland received its "A" classification.

The Dental School now occupies an elaborate building, which was completed in the Fall of 1929. This building being situated directly opposite the University Hospital and affording splendid opportunity for abundant clinic material, has done much to associate and link up the two professions. The equipment is unsurpassed both in completeness and quality, making possible great strides in the advancement of the profession as a branch of medicine. Such advancement of an institution in so short a time shows wonderful leadership and cooperation on the part of those interested in the project. This rapid growth naturally demanded an increase in the teaching staff. Today we have seventy-four instructors, all being of the highest caliber, specializing in their individual endeavors in dentistry.

With such background an institution of this kind will eventually bring to pass that for which its leaders have been striving for years, namely, the recognition of dentistry as a special branch of medicine. The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland has, in the last ten years, shown almost unbelievable progress and it becomes the duty of its graduates to continue helping and striving for this goal.

Katharine Toomey

The first person to greet the new student as he is about to enroll for the study of Dentistry at the University is a smiling and congenial young lady in the person of Miss Toomey. From the very first meeting and all during his years at the University, the student comes to realize that in Miss Toomey he has found a friend who will counsel and advise him in his school work and daily life as few, much older in years and experience, are capable of doing. Her position as secretary to the Dean of the Dental School is a most responsible one, entailing a great deal of statistical work and most accurate record keeping. How well she manages her office is proven by the fact that it is almost impossible to ask her for any data relative to the Dental School that she does not have at her instant disposal. Beloved by the student body for her readiness to help a student, her wealth of Irish wit and good "sportsmanship," Miss Toomey is always assured of a warm spot in the heart of the Student Body.

Senior Class History

So we have come to the end, or is it the beginning? Five years—poof! Just like that! Certainly, it is the beginning of something, but it is the end of something, too, isn't it? Let us see. No, it isn't right! It isn't fair! These five years, come and gone so quickly. Perhaps the sweetest passage of our lives has just reached completion. Come, Magic Mirror, bring back those tender memories.

Just a bunch of eager youngsters we were, back there in '29. Our new and beautiful school building was yet to become someone's idea. What a class that was! More than one hundred of us crowded the lecture halls of the old building. Acquaintances were being made and friendships were near in the offing. That mad rushing of ever-officious fraternity pledge men swept us completely off our feet. Secretly, we were so pleased over the fuss about us that we fell easy prey to those soft-tongued connivers. And then came the selection of Class Officers, and we voted for men we had hardly known. A taste of Dr. Black's "Glossary," and the dissection of teeth caused us to wonder, "What is it all about?"—but the year was over. We were full fledged embryo dentists.

Back we came that following Fall, to take up where we had left off. But lo! The scene had changed. Those old homes across from our school had been razed completely and some magnificent structure had grown in its place. A new, beautiful, ultra-modern edifice had been dedicated to dentistry, by our University of Maryland. How quick we were to accept these new conveniences offered. The original class roster had diminished to one-half, but new faces appeared in the "advanced standings" to take their place. Among other things, will we ever forget the dissecting room in May, and the ever-prevailing Sweet Essence of Formaldehyde about our clothes?

The Pre-Junior year came on as a blessing; a sweet relief after that hard grind of Sophomore courses, and with the sweets came the bitter—the midnight lecture period—Materia Medica, at the uncivilized hour of 8:00 A.M. We were rapidly learning the true meaning of dentistry. Cavity preparation, Crown and Bridge, and Prosthetics had become a reality, not merely subject for thought.

The Junior Year came upon us suddenly. It wasn't that we hadn't awaited it anxiously, or that we felt slightly unprepared—(No, never that!) but it had always seemed so distant. Those white gowns were grand! There were very few of us who failed to have snapshots of ourselves taken in this attire to send home to the folks. That first prophylaxis! Weren't we sacred, and didn't we discuss it eagerly that night? But confidence came on rapidly, and no clinical task seemed too difficult. The wild stampede for infirmary requirements, specimens and examinations came all bunched up, and another year had gone.

As Seniors go, generally, we were a pretty cock-sure bunch at the opening of the Fall term. We could meet almost any situation on "the floor" without help. Why, we were even doing our own root canals without assistance—"an' dat's sumpin!" The novelty had worn off somewhat, and the interest in dentistry seemed to present itself to us in an entirely new phase. Every new case was individual.

This is our profession ahead of us; our life's work, beginning. The school days have come to an end. Parting becomes such sweet sorrow. We have made friends and formed associations which will have moulded our lives—a comradeship developed through school activities, fraternities, societies, and so on, "ad infinitum." Perhaps we have shirked some responsibilities and missed many opportunities that have presented themselves, but who amongst us can boast perfection? We are entering this chosen profession with a pulsating enthusiasm that must never suffer dampening. Every man has a mistress, whether she is in the form of love, money, or learning. The mistress of dentistry is most jealous of all. With her there is no philandering, no procrastination, no element of the companionate marriage idea. She is loved for herself, or not at all.

Mildew often adds some value to a document; dust sometimes lends dignity to old bottles even if they contain new wine; and cobwebs have been known to make admirable settings for otherwise commonplace incidents. It has come to pass, therefore, that the history of the Class of 1933 is not written in the wax and parchment of official documents, it is not to be found in confidential files. There are no secrets. In this passage an effort was made only to record our history. If we can look back, years hence, recall the happy years spent at school and say, "I wouldn't have missed it for the world,"—Then may the memory linger on.

Behold! It's "Otsie" Wheeler—the one-man menagerie and "Joe" Cook's only rival. As a pediodontist "Otsie" has a great future ahead of him for with his imitations he can amuse even the most unruly child. His class will always know him as a fine student and a regular fellow.

Junior Class History

October 1, 1932, saw the renunion of the Class of '34 for what appeared to be the most exacting year of our career in Dental School. We were to begin our clinical practice! How proud we felt but down deep in some of our hearts there might have been just a bit of terror at the thoughts of actually having a patient.

The first few days were spent in getting organized and we weren't slow to learn that there was quite a jump from the basement to the clinic floor. Most of us were rather loathe to leave the security of the basement but finally we decided that the deed had to be done sometime and the sooner started the better. Then came the search for a patient, ah, will we ever forget that first patient or will he ever forget us! I doubt it.

The days passed more rapidly after we became acclimated and Christmas recess was upon us before we realized it. After that enjoyable holiday we began to take stock of ourselves—mid-years coming on and not any too many points off. We got a new grip on ourselves and worked, the results of mid-years showed that we had not exerted ourselves in vain.

The usual slowing down followed examination but the fleeting days warned us that we couldn't rest for long for the end of the term approaches all too swiftly and we must prepare for the day of reckoning.

In retrospect over the years we have already spent in professional school, I wonder at the change that has been wrought in us. Just look at our class picture when we were Freshmen—you too will be awed by the change in our outward appearance as compared to that of today. The hours spent in burning the midnight oil has left an indelible mark, but we have something to show for it and that something cannot easily be taken away from us.

We have learned by experience (sometimes sad), that our progress depends upon sacrifice, hard work and diligent application, with this in mind we "carry on" toward the ultimate goal.

Pre-Junior Class History

Vested with the accumulated joys and energy that accrue with the activities, industries, and sports of a summertime, the members of the Class of '35 hastened to pick up the golden threads of learning, which, four months previously we so reluctantly had dropped from our grasp. Elevated to the new status of Pre-Juniors, we came with hearts swelled with pride in our past progress and more justifiably, with enthusiasm and yearning for the intricate and preponderable wonders of the dental profession that were to enfold before us, daily, during the course of this cataclysmic year.

We welcomed the new faces who graced our ranks and bemoaned the absence of others. No doubt the much heralded depression has been responsible for the lack of many familiar faces that we were so accustumed to see in our class rooms. One happy countenance, in particular, one genial personality, that had indelibly marked it's image in our hearts, we sadly missed.

'Tho you have passed beyond the world of mortals, "Al" Sandler, your memory will live perpetuated in the hearts of your fellow students.

In keeping with the rest of the world we had our little political squabble resulting in the election of our Class officers. Time has proven the wisdom of our choice and has presented convincing evidence of our good judgment.

Our Class has become the scintilating cynosure to the eyes of those about us. Not confining ourselves to scholastic and material things, we sought a bit of divertisement from the physical and mental strain of our exacting year. Flushed with the success of our timid attempt of the previous year, we felt confident that a second annual class dance would meet with nought but success. The following committee was appointed by the President to arrange all necessary details:

Philip Anderson — Vernon Marquez
William Boyarsky — Frank R. Pitman
William G. Lerner

The project gained great momentum and finally culminated on the night of December 3, 1932, at the Belvedere Hotel. Thanks to the effort of the committee chairman, Philip Anderson, and the tireless efforts of "Mossy" Shulman and his music, the affair even eclipsed our dance of last year.

However shortly afterwards we buckled down to study for the approaching mid-year examinations. The Class as a whole did remarkably well and came through with flying colors. We look forward with optimism to the successful completion of this year and to our two clinical years to come, confident that we will uphold our reputation of being the outstanding class ever to enter Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Sophomore Class History

Achievements mark the milestones on the pathway of success.
To those who struggle all the way,
each mile means happiness.

The eventful passing of another school year seems to have been accompanied by no ardent regrets or bitter lamentations on the part of the members of the Class of '36. According to the majority of our deep thinkers it is satisfactorily manifest that the Sophomore year of a young hopeful's life at The Dear Old Dental School is no "cinch." However, the terrorizing process of matriculation and its accompanying awesome introduction to the faculty members was the experience of only the newer half of the class this year, and the starting zest of the annual studious struggle was proportionately increased.

The advent into our midst of a goodly number of the intelligentsia of the post-liberal-arts-collegians made the start of this year's work somewhat more exciting than it would have been otherwise.

Our vice-president, Mr. Nemeroff, was regrettably obliged to discontinue the pursuance of his studies, at least for the span of a year's time, because of illness, but our president, Mr. William Decesare, always close to his fellow students in all their fluctuations of disposition has carried on admirably in the performance of preserving class unity and good will.

The event of an unforgetable dance which marked one of the more merry weeks during the month of February did much to inspire mutual interest in class activity.

Our own welfare, our very happiness depends much upon the degree of candor with which we view the launching of our individual careers. The inculcation of an attitude of strict honesty in one's own views of life is important to every man. Such an attitude certainly enhances the usual plane of a man's thoughts and inspires much self respect, the existence of which will certainly initiate a desire for greater achievement.

The disparity of temperament which characterizes the members of any average group is an encumbrance to both the unity and general harmony of the very organization which that group attempts to create. Self inflicted cajolery and, in later years, an incorrigible remorse are the fruits of those who laugh away their opportunities. Can we, as a class, stand in the face of mute evidence which indicates to us only a part of the struggle and a part of the privations experienced by a former series of generations: the older and more recent guardians of the progress and welfare of our chosen profession, and feel that we, without effort on our part, are deserving of a part of their lasting glory? It is quite obvious that cannot; at least not until we have proved ourselves worthy of that recognition in the pursuance of which we are spending these years of our lives. Our faculty stands at the peak of the hill which, with all our incongruous attitudes, we are attempting to climb. May the hearts of all of us hold steadfastly to the hope that some day, through our own individual efforts, we may resemble them in the realization of a final success: the direct result of our indefatigable endeavor.

Freshman Class History

Fearfully we came and fearfully the school took us in; so many have rapped at her August portals, tarried awhile, and then passed on. Would we too disappoint her?

Chaos marked our first few months, and in those days of misunderstanding we thought and said many harsh things because of our newness. We came from school, farm and factory; barbers, butchers and engineers answered the first roll call. How low we were, how low we are, and how high we hope to be!

Elections were held early in the year, and we were fortunate in selecting Fred G. McKay, Jr., as our president. This proved to be a wise choice because his willingness to work and assume responsibility has helped to keep things going smoothly for us.

Many gloomy predictions were made about the mid-years and the accustomed heavy toll; but February has gone and most of us, a little the worse for wear, are still here. Now June lurks in the distance as a yawning abyss over which leads a narrow bridge—the finals; on the other side the Sophomore year and its terrors await us. We feel confident, however, that most of us will pass over the bridge to carry on the traditions and the high standard of scholarship which the preceding classes have entrusted to our care.

History of Psi Omega Dental Fraternity

In the Spring of 1892, at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the Psi Omega Dental Fraternity was organized. In the fall of this year a meeting was held and additional members were added, which with the regular list of officers, represented the first chartered gathering.

The original chapter of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery was amalgamated with the Phi Chapter of the University of Maryland in 1925 when the two schools were united as one institution. The combined chapters now function as one—Phi Alpha. The name of the mother chapter being preserved.

Psi Omega aims to elevate the standards of the profession, to encourage scientific investigation, literary culture, and stresses friendship and loyalty as the two great attributes to fraternalism.

This society, although the third to be organized, has a strong and large membership. It has grown from the time of its organization to be the largest dental fraternity. Its members now number more than sixteen thousand and is represented in all parts of the civilized world.

The Fraternity's Fortieth Anniversary, held in Baltimore, March 6, 1932, was attended by active and alumni members from near and far. It was an enjoyable occasion and no doubt will remain as a lasting memory to all present. especially those chapter members who graduated from our midst to enter the professional world.

History of Sigma Epsilon Delta Fraternity

The Sigma Epsilon Delta dental fraternity had its inception at the New York College of Dentistry during the summer of 1901. The purpose for its being founded were as follows:- to unite certain members of the dental profession for the promotion and perpetuation of fraternalism; to develop and elevate the highest ideals amongst its members; to defend the mental and moral characters of our Brethern; to foster and inculcate the highest principles of honor and patriotism; to promote the highest excellence in the science and art of dentistry and its collateral branches; to bring about through fraternal cooperations, a closer union amongst the undergraduate student body and graduate members; to assist the undergraduate members in their studies and help them attain the highest standards of the profession.

The Epsilon Chapter is a relatively recent annexation to the already other prominent chapters in the East. This chapter founded in 1927 at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, University of Maryland, is recognized as one of the most active and outstanding chapters in the entire fraternity. From its inception, Epsilon has catapulted itself into a very active, progressive, and intense campaign of fraternalism. Efforts have been so strenuously engaged and conscientously fulfilled that our expectations have been more than fully realized. In the short period of our existence we have succeeded in banding together an enviable group of active fraters.

In 1929 a dire need was felt for a home in which Epsilon could establish its official residence. The same year found us located at 1909 Eutaw Place in a beautifully furnished and modernly equipped home. Our ambitions still mounting, our chapter expanded still further and two years later we acquired our present residence at 2336 Eutaw Place.

Epsilon has realized the necessity and advantage of good scholarship, not only in molding good students, but also in making good dentists.

Our bows strengthened with such stalwart beams of brotherhood and scholarship, we can weather any storm fierce as it may be. The proud ship Sigma Epsilon Delta sails on to seas of greater glory!

History of the Alpha Omega Fraternity

The year 1933 marks the beginning of the second quarter century of progress for the Alpha Omega Fraternity. The past December saw the Grand Silver Jubilee here in Baltimore. Old and new members alike celebrated at that time the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization and in true style rang out twenty-five years of a very active existence.

Perhaps the greatest step in our advancement during the past year was the absorption of the Alpha Zeta Gamma Dental Fraternity. With this aquisition we have increased our membership and have spread the principles of Alpha Omega into several additional Dental Schools in the country.

In retrospect we can look back over twenty-five years of activity and see the fondest dreams of the founders of the organization realized in the existence of the present Alpha Omega Fraternity.

Scholarship—Friendship—Bearing—Three fraternal principles that have carried us through the first quarter century and will guide us on to even greater heights and success.

The Gorgas Odontological Society

The Gorgas Odontological Society had its inception in the Fall of 1915. Now, 18 years later, we, the Class of '33, deem it worth while to recall to mind some of the highlights in the history of our society.

A number of the Class of '16 suggested that an honorary society be established which would stimulate the student's towards efforts of high scholarship. The organization was named for Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas, a pioneer in dental education, a teacher of many years experience, and during his life a great contributor to dental literature. A name such as Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas should live forever, and it was for this purpose and for his great prowess that the society adopted it.

It is with great pride that we here state that the society's first president was Dr. J. Ben Robinson, our present dean and at that time a member of the faculty. The following list shows the first officers of Gorgas:

T. O. Heatwole, M.D., D.D.S.	Honorary President
J. Ben Robinson, D.D.S.	President
A. Clinton Albert	Vice-President
A. Z. Aldridge	Secretary
B. Sargeant Wells, D.D.S.	Treasurer
Walter C. Bean	Critic

The present head of our Prosthetic Department, Alexander H. Patterson, was an associate member and J. M. Adair and W. F. Martin, both members of our present faculty were among the original active members.

The society has been in existence for 18 years, during which time it has suffered two periods of depression. One was in 1920-21 during the transition period between the three and four year courses, but, Harry B. McCarthy and his class mates in the year 1922 revived it. In 1925 the society was practically dormant until in 1926 Walter L. Oggeson and his class brought it to life once more.

The requirements for admission at present are based on scholarship, requiring a general average of 85 per cent or more in all studies up to the Junior year.

The object of the Gorgas Society is to create an active interest in questions pertaining to the Dental Profession to develop the student's powers of thought, to promote the interests of the profession at large by creating in the student's mind a feeling of need for professional association, and to establish higher ideals of service for life work.

There are two outstanding social events of the year, an initiation banquet in the Fall and a dinner dance in the Spring at which time, the graduating members are presented with diplomas.

We are proud to note here that the active membership of thirty-eight in 1916 has grown to the present seventy-seven. May the principles on which it was founded endure thru the march of time.

More Questionnaire Results

The following questions were asked all of the Seniors: How did you happen to take up dentistry? Would you do it all over again? If not, what? What are your plans for the next five years? These questions have a very definite purpose. Their answers will prove how many really wanted to be dentists, selected because of fitness, preparation and inclination, etc.; and how many really drifted into dentistry with no thought to aptitude, etc. The answers follow:

BAILEY: How did I happen to take up Dentistry? On a hunch that I would like the work. I would not do it over again. It would be medicine. Plans for the next five years? Establish my practice immediately and try to "eek" out an existance.

BISNOVICH: How did it happen? With permission of the copyright owners. I would do it over again. During the next five years I plan to make a living.

BLOCK: I took up Dentistry because I have always had a yen for the scientific and mechanical aspect which dentistry offers. I'd do it over again. I plan to interne for a year in a hospital and then do general practice in Baltimore.

BLOOMENFELD: How did it happen? Love for the work. I'd do it over again. Next five years? Improve in dentistry—knowledge and ability and service.

BOWERS: How did I happen to take up dentistry? Choice. Yes, I'd do it over. Next five years? General practice with some institutional association—externe preferred.

BRENER: My reason for taking up Dentistry? To render service to humanity. I would not repeat dentistry but would take medicine. The next five years? Not formulated.

BRITOWICH: How did it happen? Following training as a dental technician. I would not do it over again—too hard for a poor boy. Plans for the next five years? That depends on how long this economic depression lasts.

BROTMAN: How did it happen? By preference. Yes, to taking it over again. Plans—interneship for one year, general practice following.

BROWN: How did it happen? I don't know. Would I do it all over again? Decidedly, no, under the present economic conditions. I plan to establish a practice and repay my many creditors.

BROWNELL: How did it happen? Because of its connection with medicine in treatment of human ailments. I would take it over again. Plans—Post graduate course and interneship.

CHESTERFIELD: How did it happen? Why was I born? I would not take it over again. For the next five years I'll eat, drink and be merry.

CLARK: Why did I take it up? Just picked it for no special reason. I would do it over again. Plans—Set up a practice in New Jersey.

CLAYTON: How did it happen? I don't know. I would do it over again. My plans are undecided.

COOK: How did it happen? Don't know. I would not do it over again, but would take up the ministry. For the next five years I plan to work hard.

DURYEA: How did I happen to take it up? Choice. I would do it over again. For the next five years, it's general practice for me.

ESKOW: How did it happen? Made up my mind while attending public school. I would take it over again. Plan—Interneship in a New York hospital and then open a dental office.

FLORY: Why I'm taking up Dentistry? Don't know. I would do it over again. For the next five years I plan to work hard.

FRUCHTBAUM: How did it happen? Worked with a dentist four and one-half years. I would not do it over again but would take up medicine. For the next five years, I plan to enter general practice of Dentistry in a City like Baltimore, maybe.

GAEBL: How did it happen? Personal desire influenced by dental contacts. I would not take it over again but would take medicine. For the next five years I plan to become situated in the best possible way. To accept opportunities as they present. To select a good specialty and to become proficient in it.

GARMAN: Why Dentistry? 1. Professional ability. 2. Civic responsibility. 3. Financial stability. I would do it over again. For the next five years if financially able to practice dentistry.

GILLMAN: Why Dentistry? Having nothing else to do. I would take it over again and for the next five years, I'm going to take it easy.

GINSBURG: Why Dentistry? No reason. I would take it over again. My plans for the next five years are indefinite.

GOLDINER: Why did I take up Dentistry? I don't remember that far back. Must have been young and foolish. I would take it over again.

GOLDSTEIN: Why did I take up Dentistry? Always intended to take dentistry. I would take it over again. Plans for the next five years—who knows.

GORSUCH: Why Dentistry? Desire to be successful in life and believing education to be the prime requisite. Intended to study law but decided dentistry offered better opportunities. I would not do it over again. I'd be an artist. My five year plans follows: 1933-'34, to establish a dental practice or work under another dentist. Belong to dental associations and subscribe to dental periodicals. Review the courses I studied as a student. 1934-'35, formation of a complete dental library. Continue to study the elementary dental courses until completed. Continue practice, if established. 1935-'36, to study certain dental subject intensely, including post graduate courses in such subjects. To continue practice and gain knowledge of the other fellow's life work. 1936-'37, to continue practicing and special study. 1937-'38, further study, especially medical art and continue practice.

GOTHERS: Why Dentistry? Liked it for years prior to beginning. Decided after trying many occupations. I would do it over again. Plans—Work and plenty of good eats.

GURVITZ: How did it happen? Became interested in it through social acquaintances who were dentists. I would not take it over again, but would study medicine. Plans—Interneship for one year, general practice for the next four.

HALL: Why Dentistry? As a kid I spent so much time in the dental chair I became interested enough to want to study. Moral to this story is do as much work on kids as possible at each appointment so that they will not become interested. I would do it over again. Plans—I hope to interne for the coming year. After that, expect to look around for some small town in Maryland or Virginia and open an office and settle down to the life of a general practionier.

HAMILTON: Why Dentistry? Not fitted for anything else. I would not do it over again. I would become a purser. Plans—Interne for one year and then practice in a medium sized town.

HELFMANN: Why Dentistry? In a crazy moment. I would not take it over again. It would be medicine. Five year plans are vague.

HOFFMAN: Why Dentistry? Don't know. Would not do it over again. Would be a plumber. Plans for the next five years are general practice in a small town.

HOLTER: Why Dentistry? An easy way to make plenty of money. I would not do it over again. Ditch-digger for me. No plans.

HOMEL: Why Dentistry? You guess. I would take it over again. My plans for the next five years is trying to locate a good office with no dentist in a radius of two blocks.

HORTON: Why Dentistry? The urge to study a profession. I would do it over again. Five years plans—to interne for one year and then practice dentistry.

HOY: How did it happen? By chance. I would take it over again.

HUNT: How did it happen? By chance. I would take it over again. Plans—to practice dentistry in Lexington, N. C.

ICAZA: Why Dentistry? A dentist used to live next door to me. I would not do it over again, but would take up business. Five year plans—to work with my brother in my home city.

JANOWITZ: Why Dentistry? Don't know. I would do it over again.

KIRSCHNER: Why Dentistry? In search of a profession, listened to the advice of a successful dentist friend. I would take it over again. Five year plans?—Practice general dentistry. Study prosthesis and exodontia with the idea of possible specialization eventually. Pay off debts.

KOCIS: Why Dentistry? Just happened—own opinion. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Neutral.

KOWALSKI: Why Dentistry? Thought it would be a good way to earn a living. I don't know if I'd do it over again. Five year plans? General practice with the only dentist in my home town.

KROSER: Why Dentistry? By accident. I would not take it over again. I'd take up business. Five year plans? Business.

KWAN: Why Dentistry? For independence. Would you do it over again? Yes, I would. Five year plans? Private practice.

LEARY: Why Dentistry? Because it appealed to me. I would not do it over again. My five year plans are indefinite.

McCLUNG: How did it happen? No idea. I would not take it over again. I would take up aviation. Five year plans are rest.

McGARRY: Why Dentistry? Desirous of retaining the family practice established some fifty years ago. I would take it over again.

McGUIRE: No reasons.

McKAY: Why Dentistry? Ask me another. I would not do it over again. Next five years I plan to study a specialty.

MANSELL: Why Dentistry? Suggested in high school and encouraged by parents. I would do it over again. Five year Plans? To establish myself and build up a practice to the best of my ability.

MARKOWITZ: Why Dentistry? I fell into it. I would not do it over again. I would take up medicine. Five year plans? Damned if I know.

MOORE: Why Dentistry? Thought it a good way to help others and at the same time make a fairly decent living. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Try to establish a general practice in Baltimore and perhaps a home of my own.

NATHAN: Why Dentistry? Association with the profession. I would take it over again. Five year plans? To take up the study of orthodontia.

NUSSBAUM: How did it happen? I was given a choice between the various professions and my choice was dentistry. I would do it over again.

OMENN: Why Dentistry? Don't know. I would do it over again.

ORTIZ: Why Dentistry? Because I knew I would like it. I would take it over again.

PAQUETTE: How did it happen? Advised by vocational counsellor as best fitted for dentistry because of professional head and mechanical and artistic ability and capacity. I would take it over again. Five year plans? General practice in Unity, Maine.

PICHE: Why Dentistry? Father is a dentist. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Wait until the depression is over then open up. Work with my father in the meantime.

PIOMBINO: How did I come to take up Dentistry? My own choice and opinion. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Interneship one year, open office for general practice.

REED: Why Dentistry? Choice. I would take it over again.

RODGERS: Why Dentistry? My dentist used to charge me $10.00 a filling.

SANDFORD: Why Dentistry? Appealed to me. I would not take it over again.

SCHINDLER: Why Dentistry? By being chums with my dentist. I would not do it over again. I would take up surgery. My five year plans are undecided for a good bit but hope to learn more exodontia with anesthesia.

SCHREIBER: Why Dentistry? Fixed my kid sisters tooth and thought it might be a pretty good racket since she was so grateful. I would do it over again. Five year plans? Six months of leisure and travel. A nice office in a quiet suburb. The right girl, children and a home.

SCHWARTZ: Why Dentistry? A cousin at University of Pittsburgh Dental painted a pretty picture for me. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Practice dentistry. Not save a dime. Dissapate like all hell. Try to complete an Oral Surgery course in spare moments. Keep ideas of marriage out of my head.

SCHWARZKOPF: Why Dentistry? An influential friend of the family encouraged me to take up the study of dentistry rather than study to be an electrical engineer. I would do it over again. My five year plans? To interne at a hospital and then become an associate of an exodontist until the time comes to start a practice of my own.

SELIGMAN: Why Dentistry? Decided I'd like to be a dentist when I was still in high school. I would do it over again. My five year plans? Open an office and try to make a living.

SHULMAN: Why Dentistry? Contact with friends in the profession. I would do it over again. Five year plans? Become established, continue study and dental interneship.

STEINFELD: Why Dentistry? Lost a bet. I would not take it over again. Five year plans? Interneship.

STRAMSKI: Why Dentistry? I saw in it a great opportunity for young men of Polish descent to do work among people who do not speak the English language. I do not know if I would do it over again. I would travel and work my way. Five year plans? To open my office and there to study the patrons that may come, in order that I may decide which specialty of my two favorites I should choose. Oh, yes, get married as soon as I am able to earn $35.00 per.

THRALL: Why Dentistry? By process of elimination, considering especially hours employed. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Attempt to build up a conservative practice based upon ethics and economics.

TOCHER: Why Dentistry? Partial influence of family dentist and after careful consideration on my own part. I would take it over again. Five year plans? Practice dentistry and get married.

TODD: Why Dentistry? I decided while writing a vocational civic essay while a freshman in high school. I would take it over again. Five year plan? Interne one year and private practice.

TOUBMAN: How did it happen? Watching my uncle who is a successful dental practitioner. I would do it over again. Five year plans? Open an office and become a successful dentist.

TRAX: Why Dentistry? No reason. I would take it over again. Next five years? Starving to death.

WALDMAN: Why Dentistry? Attracted to it early in life. I would take it over again.

A. S. WHEELER: Why Dentistry? Always wanted to be a dentist, even as a child. Then by a series of eliminations of other professions and abilities as well as capital, decided on dentistry. I would not do it over again. I would be a brick-layer. For the next five years I plan to work like hell and to make a living.

G. E. WHEELER: Why Dentistry? By choice. I would not take it over again, because I am broke. I don't know what my plans for the next five years are.

WICK: Why Dentistry? Just thought I would like to be a professional man. Just why dentistry? I don't know. I would take it over again. Next five years? Take post graduate work in exodontia and finally develop a specialists technic.

WILLER: Why Dentistry? My father needed plates and my sister had a tooth-ache. I would not do it over again but would take up medicine. Hard work and study are my plans for the next five years.

Any name missing is due to the fact that this person did not hand in a sheet. Upon looking these results over we find that 11 men plan to interne; 26 men would not take dentistry over again and out of these 8 would take medicine; 45 men would take it over again. Of the men who would not take it over again, two would go into business, and the rest are divided up one each in aviation, the ministry, artist, purser, plumber, ditch-digger, surgery and brick-laying. Quite a variety.

Dr. Paul Adam Deems

This picture is alone impromptu, whilst the feeling of our Senior Class is premeditated. We sincerely regret we must bid farewell to one who has been more than just a teacher in spirit, but an advisor at heart; an unforgetable friend, and a true pal. His encouraging mannerisms will always be an inspiration to us. Memories of his magnanimous attitude of "putting his shoulder to the wheel" with his boys, make the Senior Class unanimously grateful to him.

Champions of the Baltimore Amateur Ice Hockey League, 1932-33

Hockey Team

Maryland's hockey team, after getting away to a slow start, gradually gained momentum as the season progressed, to win the Baltimore Amateur Hockey Championship.

The schedule of games was divided into two rounds; the winner of the first round to play the winner of the second for the league championship.

At the finish of the first round, Maryland and Green Spring Valley were in a tie for first place. In the first play-off Green Spring Valley qualified themselves for the final play-off series by defeating Maryland 4–2 in one of the fastest and most exciting games of the season.

Maryland, still smarting from the sting of defeat in the first round, came back with a vengeance to win the second round without a defeat.

The inspired hockey that Maryland played during the second round of games, carried them through to win the league championship by defeating the powerful Green Spring Valley team two straight games in the championship series.

The most outstanding player in the league was Fred Cuddy, Maryland's popular captain. He was not only the high scorer of the league, but also a great playmaker and a real sportsman.

Maryland's team this year was built around a colorful first forward line, the Kobrinsky, Cuddy and Crins combination, termed by many followers of hockey as the cleverest trio of the league. This trio displayed to hockey enthusiasts the knowledge of the game as it should be played. They performed throughout the season with machine like precision; their accurate passing attack, their fast skating and their brilliant defensive work, gaining for them the well earned distinction "the class of the league."

The second forward line, composed of Scanlon, Hodges and Jack Cuddy, although not so brilliant as the first forward line, gained the enviable record of holding their opponents scoreless throughout the entire season.

At the beginning of the season Maryland was forced to rely upon her two veteran defense men, Stevens and Gillespie, to protect and assist Herculson, Maryland's star goalie. As the season progressed a new defense star, Arthur Jorjorian, was uncovered. Jorjorian, while not having had much experience in hockey, developed very rapidly at the end of the year, and was termed the most improved and one of the best defensive hockey players in the league.

Although Invernezzi, Houlihan, Walsh and Burns did not play so much this season, they did, however, show great ability and spirit which indicates that they will be pressing the so-called "leaguers" for their positions next year.

The success of this year's championship team hinges greatly upon the superb coaching of Dr. McCarthy and the excellent management of the tireless Dr. Fusco assisted by Dr. Oggesen. These two men, not only worked hard and industriously and inspired the team to great heights, but they also imbibed into the minds of the players the true spirit of honor and sportsmanship.

It is worthy of note that in the second half of the amateur league schedule, which included two league play-off games, Maryland scored thirty goals against her opponents' eight.

Since going to press the University of Maryland Hockey team has crowned itself with added glory by defeating the Jamaica Hockey Club, Junior Amateur Champions of New York, by a score of 3–2. This game was played at Iceland and proved to be a fitting climax to Maryland's victorious season.

Forward March

A year book solely for the dental school was an accomplishment of the year 1932. The dream of this representative publication became a reality. Students, as well as professors, awaited its arrival with an enthusiasm justly deserved. Of course, the book was not a masterpiece—no young tree bears a bumper crop during its first season—but it was a tribute to the careful planning and management of the editors. They won for themselves an enviable position in the history of the school.

This year, prior to the book going to press, new ideas were presented, old ones scratched out, and a marked change for the better was made. But among all these new and up-to-date alterations there still remained a wide open gap. It is no fault of the controlling powers of the publication, but one which reverts back to the underclassmen themselves.

Upon request of the editor this article was developed, and it is our sincere wish to initiate a plan whereby the lower classes can claim the book as theirs, and not purchase it knowing that it is a Senior organ. We must grant that these August gentlemen about to leave our midst deserve the center of the stage, but not the whole of it. No star on any stage of life ever attained his goal without the supporting cast. This is manifest here at school in The Mirror with no small degree of certainty.

Many of the members studying now at the Dental School have previously attended, if not graduated, from a liberal arts college. Although this group is a decided minority, it does form a nucleus around which this book can build its future program of expansion.

It is a well known fact that in an academic institution, great stress is laid upon extra-curricula activities; maybe there is an over-stress, but we will leave this question to all our present day critics and statisticians. Students are invited to participate in this or that enterprise. Let us direct our attention now to a particular branch of student occupation. This immediately brings to the fore the literary or publication endeavors.

An academic year book, with its pages decorated with rich cuts and designs, its bindings, works of art, and its pages filled with pictures of athletic events or intimate glimpses of fraternity life, is an extravagant affair. Also there are sections apportioned to literary attempts, original poems, and drawings or caricature sketches. The subscription price is oft-times prohibitive for these elaborate school organs.

The Mirror cannot expect to rival or compete with non-professional schools, since time and money in large amounts are requisite to undertakings of this kind. We can, however, broaden our book with contributions of any type from the lower classes. None of us have shown evidence of being embryo Pasteurs, Shakespeares, or Websters, but we can at least give of our simple talents.

Next year when the year book material is being gathered, let us take account of our own stock and ability. The editor will be more than pleased to know that the school en masse is taking an active interest in the development of a democratic book. All progress throughout the ages has been based upon cooperation and unanimity of purpose. "Competition is the spice of life," and naturally the more suggestions and contributions received from those not officially connected with The Mirror will tend to raise its standard and character.

Again we realize that producing an expensive book is out of the question, but a few developments already initiated will be a step in the right direction and make the year book more enticing to the underclassmen. Can we count on Your support?

SUSSMAN—"The heart is located in the middle mediastinum—the middle mediastinum. Your not a guest you see."
MALDEIS—"Now we're going fast."
TOWILL—"Can't you get Doctor Fetter?"
FETTER—"You're not in my section."
FUSCO—"Go get Doctor Mott."
MOTT—"See Doctor McCarthy. Did you check on that with articulating paper?"
KARN—"And that fillum was placed against the tisher."
PATTERSON—"From A to Izzard."
HYSON—"Okay, I'll be there in a minute."
IDE—"Now, that's a good question. I'm glad you brought that up. That's the worst filling on the face of God's earth and you can save yourself a lot of grief if you don't use it."
LEONARD—"You fellows don't take children's dentistry as seriously as you should. Cut out that chattering over there."
TRIPLETT—"More anon! I'll see you on the fields of Phillipi."
DOBBS—"How would you like to try one of our Roentgenograms?"
McCARTHY—"Make 'em pay—they've got it."
GOLDSTEIN—"Tell me what you see."
HEATWOLE—"Let's discuss it. I want to plant the seed."
INMAN—"Going to the game tonight?"
DORSEY—"Then take this and flip it out (plink!) like this."
HAHN—"Hold still that isn't hurting you."
AISENBERG—"When I was over to see Orban."
CRIDER—"Uh? Is your patient in the prosthetic room? Okay."
NELSON—"Let's get out of here by four o'clock."
DANFORTH—"This isn't an explorer, it's a cement spatula."
O. H. GAVER—"Now, gentlemen—other physiologists agree that . . . ."
BERNARDINI—"Let 'em cry and go on and drill."
HICKS—"Say, do you need periclasia?"
BROWNING—"Draw the pattern and let me see it. Let him come back for a check scaling."
COBERTH—"Wait till one o'clock. Doctor Bernardini will be here then."
LATCHAM—"Is it sharp? If it's not, out you go. Did you say plugger point?"
NUTTALL—(Eating lunch)—"I'm not here between twelve and one. Let's hear from the crew."
MRS. REED—"How are you today?"
MISS STOKES—"Where is your Junior?"
MISS LEE—"Well—where is your card?"
MRS. CARROLL—"How are you, darling?"
MISS HAGAN—"Says the student—Ah!"
MARGARET—"Fifteen cents."
WALTER—"It's working now."

Mr. McDermott's Myth

In Scherr surprise I asked . . . . "When you left the Latcham I supposed to come in?" "Sure, come Inman! That's why I opened the Dorsey?" I went in and took her Hahn. Then I Gover a kiss. "Stop, you Wolf," she cried, "that Hursts! You Karn not do that."

"I'de no idea you'd say that Toomey. You must think we're a bunch of Hicks. But, I'm off my Nuttall the time about you."

At this, she Crider eyes out. I handed her a Towill, and confessed. "I only did it on Adair."

"I Mott have known it," she blazed. "A man Deems those things a mere joke." Then calling her slaves, she commanded . . . . "Fetter this mug and throw him in the Bay . . . . he'll have a Coberth tonight."

"Nixon that stuff," I said, "you'll be Browning in the electric chair when the police hear about this."

"Wells, suppose you pay a ransom," she said, "it's Foley to release you." "Name any Preis and I'll Triplett," I cried, "I have Pyles of Money." I drink beer out of a Goldstein. I am the Richeson of the whole family. It a Pearson excellent idea.

"You may go, Coward, but return between the third Danforth day with your fortune. Remember, I'll keep my Hyson you. One false move and I'll make Pyott of you. You won't be Yeager to give me the royal Roseberry again. You're a bad Eggnatz not the half of it."

Turning to her slaves, she said . . . . "Come, leave Fusco," and she stalked out, leaving me alone.

Class Three's

(With apologies to "TREES," by Joyce Kilmer)

I think that I shall never see,
A preparation as perfect as a Class III,

A Class III, according to Black's "digest"
Seems to me to be the best;

A Class III, whose margins do not fray
When foil is condensed in the orthodox way;

A Class III, whose point angles stand there
In sharp relief, with a receptive stare;

To begin to condense, and make the foil "stick,"
I must confess 'tis all a trick,

Cavities are made by fools like me,
But only Latcham can prepare a Class III.

JURISPRUDENCE

(Oral Hygiene)

An old man went to a rejuvenation specialist and asked how much it would cost to rejuvenate him.

"To make you 30 again, it will cost you $1,000," said the surgeon, "but to make you like 25 again will cost $2,000, and anything below that age $5,000."

"I don't care about the cost; just make me eighteen again," said the oldster.

The operation seemed to be a success. But when the surgeon sent in his bill, the rejuvenated one sent it back with this notation:

"You can't collect from a minor!"

March---The Month Before We Go to Press

It's An Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good

March 1—"Jumbo" Hunt carries three hundred pound stop sign to his room about dawn. Two coppers couldn't get it down later. Just a tite haul, pal.

March 2—Bloomenfeld requests that his patient stand so that "Bloomy" can raise the chair in order to oil the arm piece. Intuition personified, "Maxie."

March 3—We find out Reed's favorite song: Mood Indigo. Jere-maid?

March 4—John Gothers joins "Just a Little Home For the Old Folks." A token from us.
Dr. Anderson (rushing into barber shop five minutes before lecture): Can you cut my hair without removing my collar and tie?"
Barber: "Yes, sir. You may leave your hat on, too if you wish."

March 6—"Freddie" Trax tells about his best gal Minnie "The Moocher." She's okay, men. Toubman, upon being asked if he was a Benedict replied, "No, I am a Hebrew." Check us up on this one.

March 7—Omenn is asked by a colored boy: "Brother, can ya spare a dime?"

March 8—Seligman tells his yarn about when he was nine years old.

March 9—"Mannie" Hoffman tells his yarn about the bread box in the kitchen. Ask him if ya want ta laff ya head off.

March 10—We discovered Kowalski, the guy with the big drag. Puff! Puff!

March 11—Man, oh, man! What a matador it will take to kill the bull the skating Adonis hands out.

March 13—Wick gets a new patient and he tells her his name is Wick. Wick? she asks. "Newt" assures her in the affirmative. Too bad says the patient. "Newt" asks why. Patient says: "One puff and you're out like a light." So's everybody near him.

March 14—Dr. Patterson uses pronoun "I" 130 times according to actual count by D. R. Todd (to Kelly): "You needn't look at that check so hard; it will be back in a few days, and then you may look at it as long as you want to."

March 15—Bailey figures out by calculus, algebra and Einstein's theory that Dr. Ide walks 4.5 miles (in a school year) behind the lecture desk. Makes 9000 turns and uses 5,304,028 ergs of energy worth at the rate lecturer is paid.

March 16—Dr. Bay says he'll give a course in Manicuring to Hoy. Is my face red?

March 17—St. Patrick's Day. Leary heads the green division. Dr. Leonard-Bowers verbal tilt on local and systemic causes. No score. No hits. No runs. No errors.

March 18—We make the discovery that there are three babies on the way to the wives of our class mates. The nearest is due in July.

March 20—Paquette (according to class) displays lack of tact by reciting favorite teachers according to class survey and not including Dr. Davis whom Paquette is addressing.

March 21—First day of Spring. At nine A.M. class is brought out of its stupor due to lack of air by the opening of windows. (Class went back to sleep).
Dr. Bay: "What other symptoms may be present with portal cirrhosis?"
Eskow: "You have hemorrhoids."
Dr. Bey: "Well, let that be a secret between you and me."

March 22—Amy Kwan asks a clerk at Hutzler for a shorter skirt than the one she has just been shown. Clerk said it was the shortest she had but she could try the collar department.

March 23—Block is heard humming popular song: "My Old Fraternity Pin." Oh Miss Lee. Yoo Hoo.

March 24—Schindler, stay 'way from my door. He only borrowed 99,999,999 instruments and only asked 10,123 questions. Outcome of Dr. Leonard-Bowers tilt leaves class still hanging in mid air.

March 25—Ortiz is nominated the Maurice Chevalier of the Class. Give me one hour—and I'll tell you what I am thinking.

March 27—Gordon enters track meet and wins cup by a nose.

March 28—Piche enters street car and sits down in lap of lady. He says: "Don't mind me, lady. I'm not heavy and I'm too short to hang on to a strap."

March 29—Tocher the boy scout is discovered. Also Richardson, alias "Gloomy Gus."
Dr. Bay: "Mr. Bloomenfeld, what are some of the etiological factors of cancer of the breast?"
Bloomenfeld: "Why irritation—say from a jaggered tooth."

March 30—Brown asks Hamilton difference between labor and capital. Hamilton says there isn't any and Brown replies: "There is. If I gave you a dollar, that would be capital but if I tried to get it back it would be labor."

March 31—Gillman enters drug store and asks clerk for one of those pink tooth brushes he's seen advertised so much. Paquette doesn't sell anything this day.

THERE IS NO better ADVICE THAN THIS FOR dental GRADUATES

IT is generally agreed that only a small minority of the population avails itself of the services of the dental profession. Some sources estimate the number to be less than twenty per cent.

However, it is a well known fact that people are becoming more and more dental-minded now that they are beginning to appreciate the great value of modern dental service to their health and happiness.

Consider, then, what a wonderful opportunity is offered to you dental graduates who are beginning practice just as this demand for dental service is gaining momentum!

By establishing yourselves in the right locations and equipping your offices with new Ritter equipment which will enable you to take full advantage of your skill and professional knowledge, you will be prepared to meet this growing demand for high grade dental service.

Let the Ritter Architectural Department help plan your office. Start out with equipment that is built up to a standard . . . not down to a price. Begin right . . . buy Ritter! Ritter Dental Manufacturing Company, Inc., Rochester, N. Y.

BUY RITTER

START WITH THE RIGHT EQUIPMENT

It is good sound professional and business sense to start your dental career knowing that you have not wasted any of your time or money on equipment of doubtful practice-building value. The dental cabinet too, should have your most careful consideration, and for many good professional reasons, should be the best you can afford.

Of course—it should be an American Dental Cabinet, as 80% of all dental cabinets in use are American Dental Cabinets.

Can 48,000 dentists be wrong?

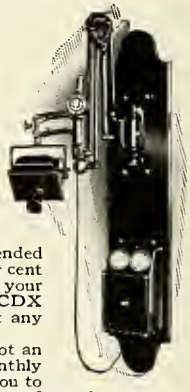
A CDX Dental X-Ray Unit—you will need one in your new office



Leaders in the dental profession have their own x-ray units. They find that making their own radiographs enables them to spend their time more profitably and speeds their work with greater efficiency and accuracy. The fact that many of these leaders have chosen the CDX Dental X-Ray Unit evidences its superiority.

The CDX Dental X-Ray Unit hangs suspended from the wall. It is 100 per cent electrically safe. You and your patient can touch the CDX while in operation without any danger of shock.

And owning a CDX is not an expense. A liberal monthly payment plan will enable you to pay each monthly installment from the revenues derived and still have a profit. In starting out you cannot afford to be without this important tool of your profession. Write for full information.

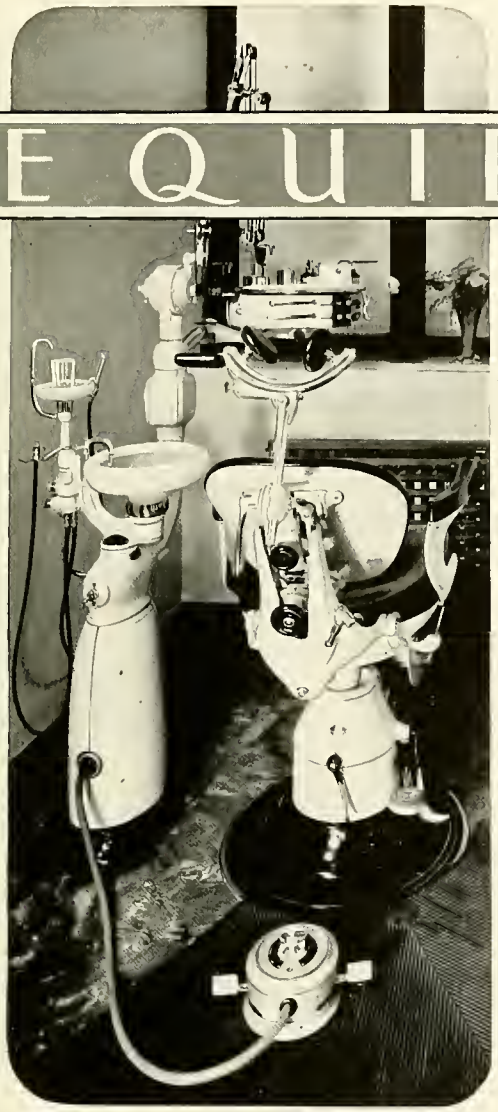
EQUIPMENT



An Investment- not an Expense

APPROACHING the purchase of equipment with the thought that it is merely a compulsory expense, to be minimized by buying as cheaply as possible, would be equivalent to bargaining for a low-priced college course with the sole idea of saving money.

Both the college course and the equipment are investments, both should have capital value, both will return dividends in proportion to their quality and completeness.

S. S. White Equipment is made and sold on this basis—on the premise that nothing can be too good as a dentist's investment. If he buy real estate, it should be good, if he buy bonds they should be sound, in any investment he should look for permanency of value and adequate return—his equipment certainly should be a high-grade investment.

Furthermore, the office and the operatory are the dentist's daytime home—they should be conveniently and adequately equipped for his comfort and efficiency and as an inspiration for his best effort. From the patient's point of view the dental office should be inviting and reassuring; it should proclaim up-to-date, competent, and reliable service.

S. S. White Equipment lends itself to the perfection of these ideals. Office planning service furnished by the S. S. White Company and by the dealers who sell S. S. White Equipment, and the liberal terms of purchase enable the dentist to make his investment in equipment highly satisfactory in every consideration.
